THE 1959

WILSONIAN

Alma Mater

Mounted on the verdant hilltop,
Looking o'er the town,
Proudly stands our high school building
As the sun goes down.

Daily youth will tread the pathway
To its open door,
Finding there a wealth of learning
As they did of yore.

Thus we dedicate this structure,
Monument to youth,
Ever striving, ever learning,
Loyalty and truth.

Wilson High School! Wilson High School!
Sing with all your might.
We will rally round the standard
Of the Red and White.

Class Colors

Steel gray and Red

Class Flower

Red Rose

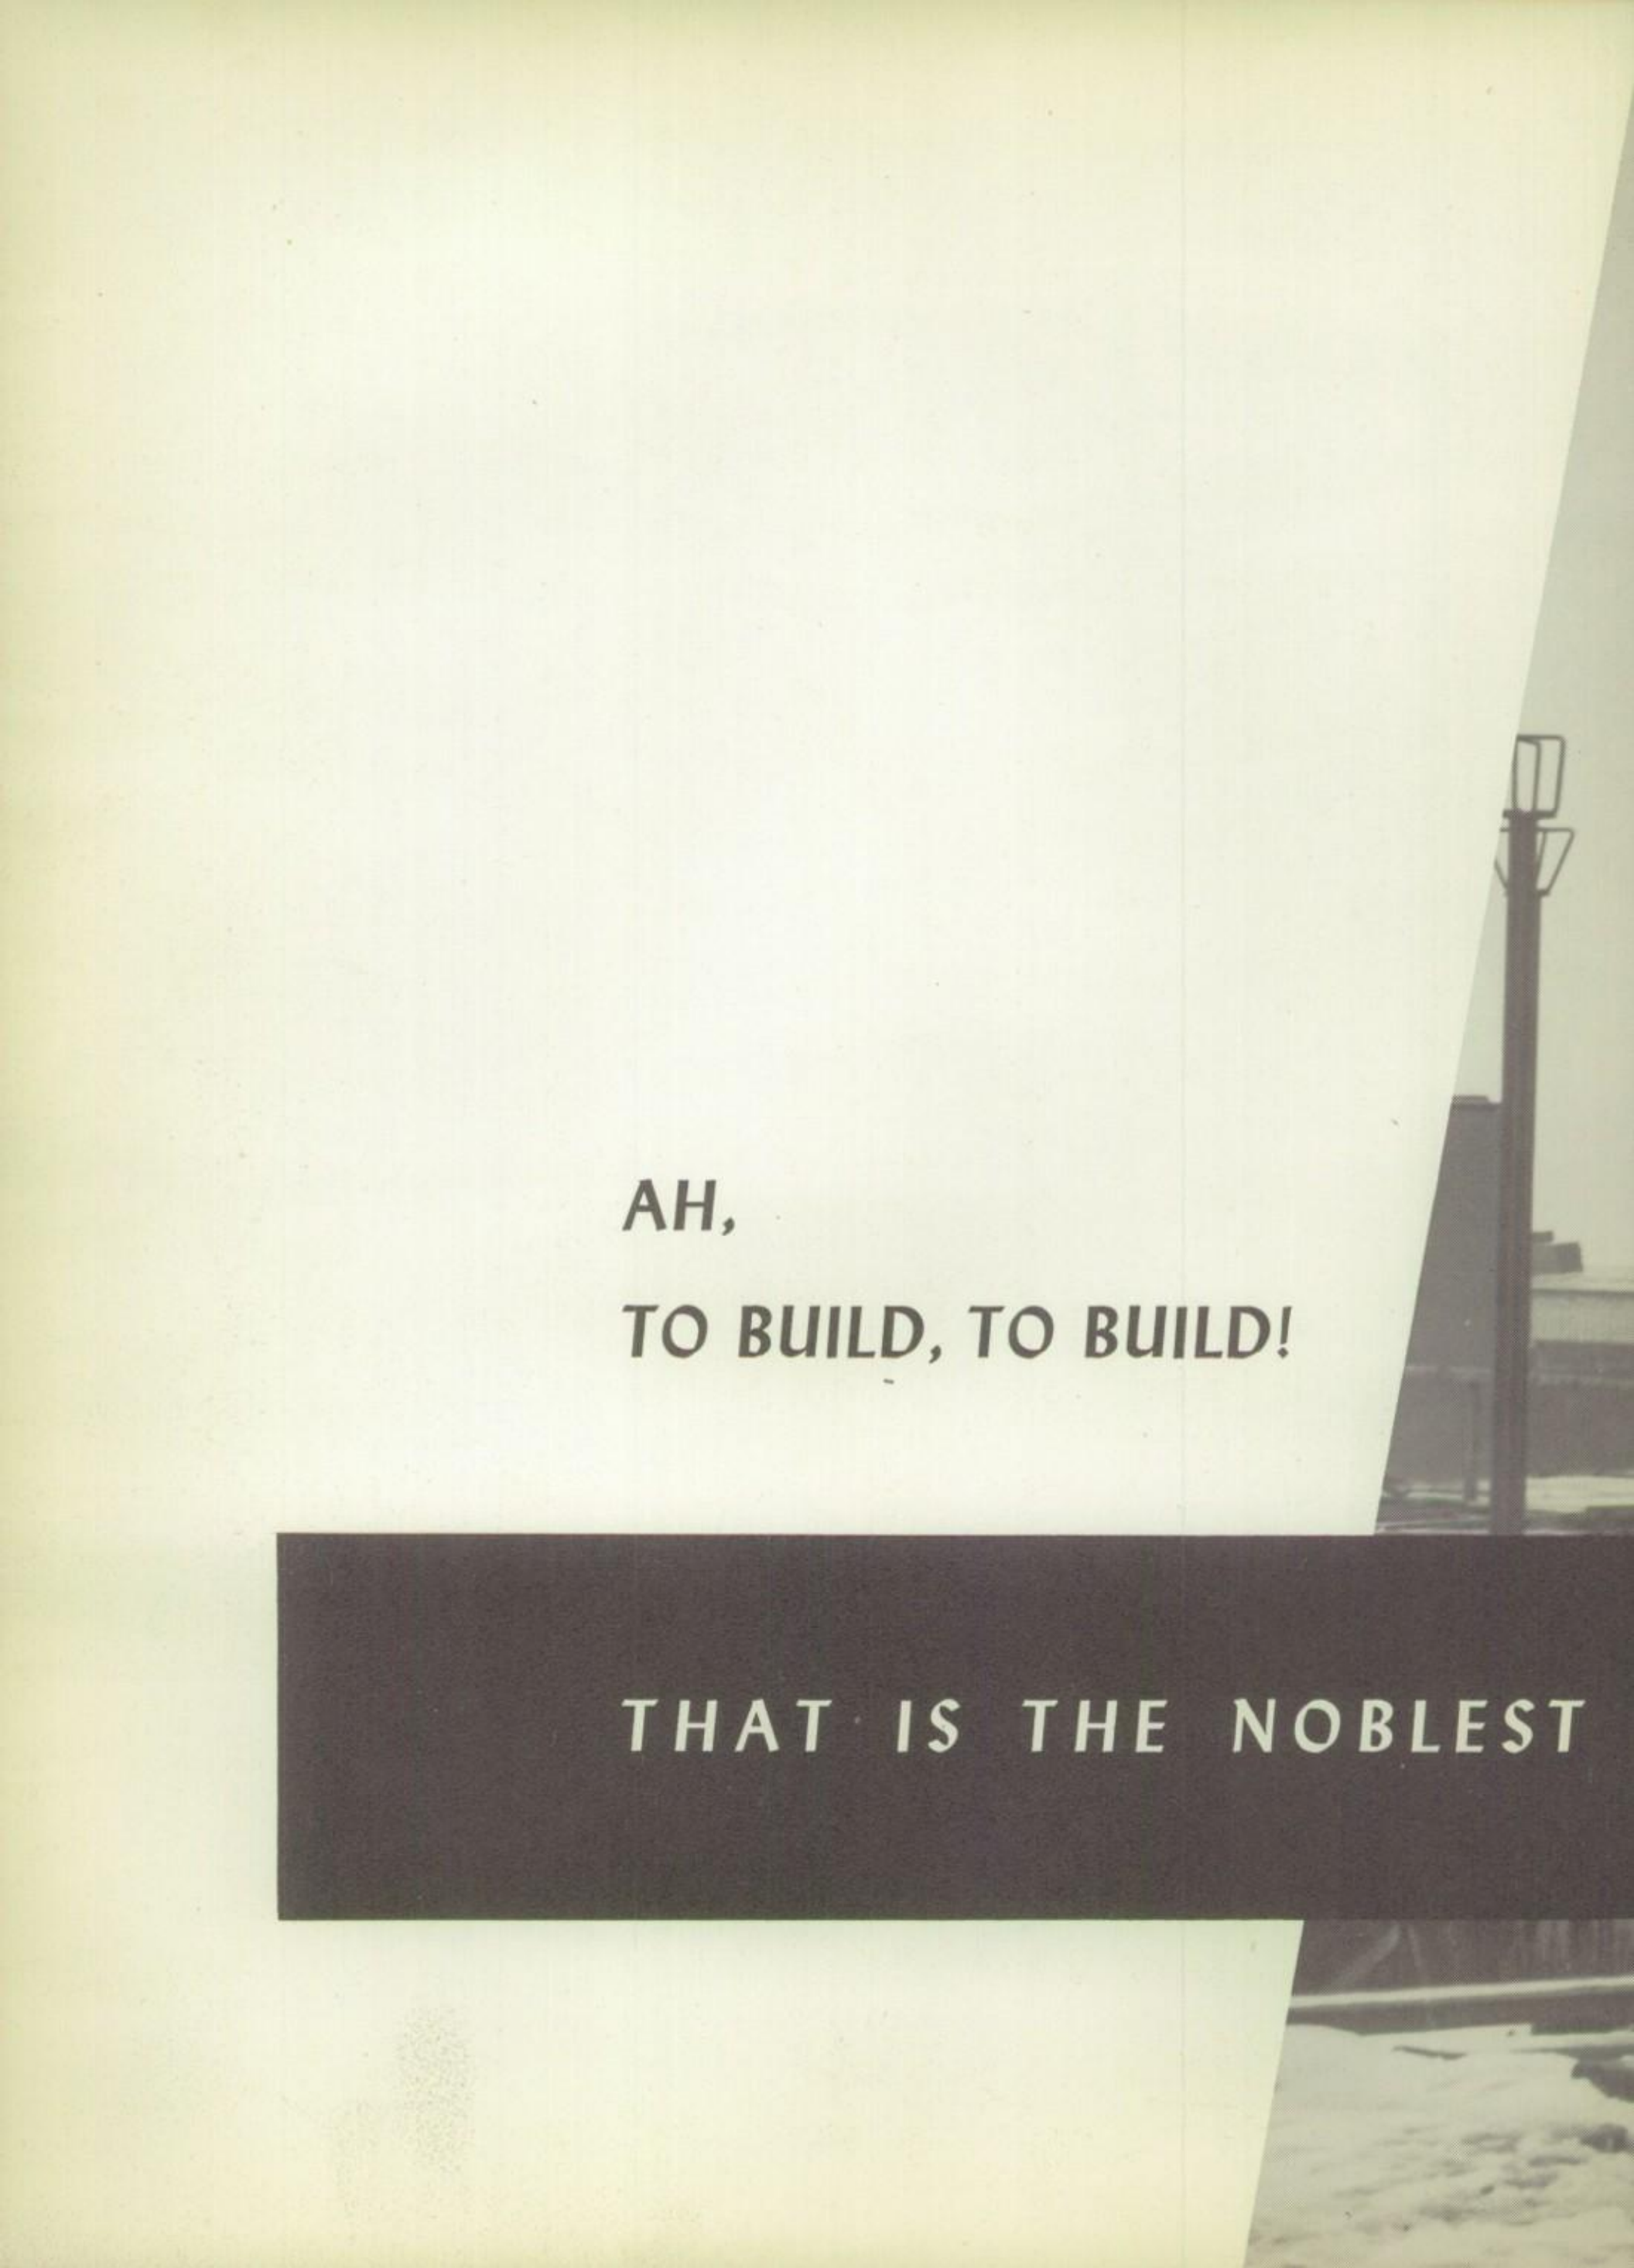

Class Motto

Man knows happiness only when he finds truth

To John W. Wise
We Dedicate Our Book Gratefully

With profound respect and fondest admiration, we, the Class of 1959, dedicate our yearbook, The Wilsonian, to Mr. John W. Wise. Never will we forget the enthusiasm with which he has supported our athletic teams throughout the years and his usual jovial attitude and temperament. No pep meeting would have been complete without his cheerleading or playing in the faculty band. But most of all, we will be indebted to him for his invaluable aid and assistance to our class by way of formulating the class budget and taking charge of yearbook patron sales.

ADMINISTRATION'S MEN

Seventeen Able People Live to Build,
Not Boast, A Citizen Honest and True

The Wilson Joint School Board, which consists of seventeen members, meets the third Wednesday of each month. The board is divided into nine committees which meet at different times to discuss problems related to their fields. Committee reports are given at the Joint Board meeting and the various recommendations are voted upon.

This state appropriation seems to please the officers of the school board who are Mr. Harold Beidler, President; Mr. James Moyer, Treasurer; Mr. John Riegel, Vice President; and Mr. Charles Adams, Secretary.

Mr. P. Arner, science department head, discusses science department plans with the Wilson Joint School Board members, Messrs. M. Yocum, Mrs. D. Lamm, M. Miller, R. Bollman, E. Erb, W. Tobias, R. Shearer, H. Eckenroth, S. Heckman, R. Reinert, D. Miller, M. Reiff, W.R. Eshelman, solicitor; W. Kutz and A. Smith.

Mr. William C. Kutz shakes hands with Charles Dietrich to congratulate him upon his graduation.

Members of the Class of 1959:

It is a real pleasure for me to extend my sincere congratulations to each of you for having successfully completed the requirements for graduation.

Your high school has endeavored to prepare you to meet the problems of a complex social order. The sacrifices of your parents, the inspiration of your teachers, the encouragement of your friends and your own will to achieve have brought you to this glad day.

Whatever your life's ambition may be, try to use your talents to the fullest. Your wholesome attitude toward life, your spirit of cooperation, your interest in your work, your growth in mental and spiritual stature, your advancement in knowledge and vocational efficiency will reflect the philosophy of your Alma Mater.

As alumni, we hope you will visit us and partake of our many activities.

Very sincerely yours,
Clayton D. Rehrer
Principal

These Stars We Steer By

To the Class of 1959:

You have come down the corridor of time, oblivious of a major depression, slightly recalling what your elders told you about World War II, and spoiled by plentiful resources in a materialistic world. Growing up at the beginning of the atomic age, the transistor and the I.C.B.M. bequeath unto you the advancements of the space era. In your short span of life, the changing world has progressed more swiftly than at any other time in history.

Are you ready to meet the problems of an everchanging society? Has your schooling established within you the desire to attain greater scholastic heights? If graduation ends your academic pursuits, are you well prepared by the knowledge you gained to be a loyal American citizen, devoted to living in a free society?

Very truly yours,
William C. Kutz
Chief School Administrator

Mr. Clayton D. Rehrer and Mr. Harry Potteiger, contractor, are discussing a section of the new gymnasium.

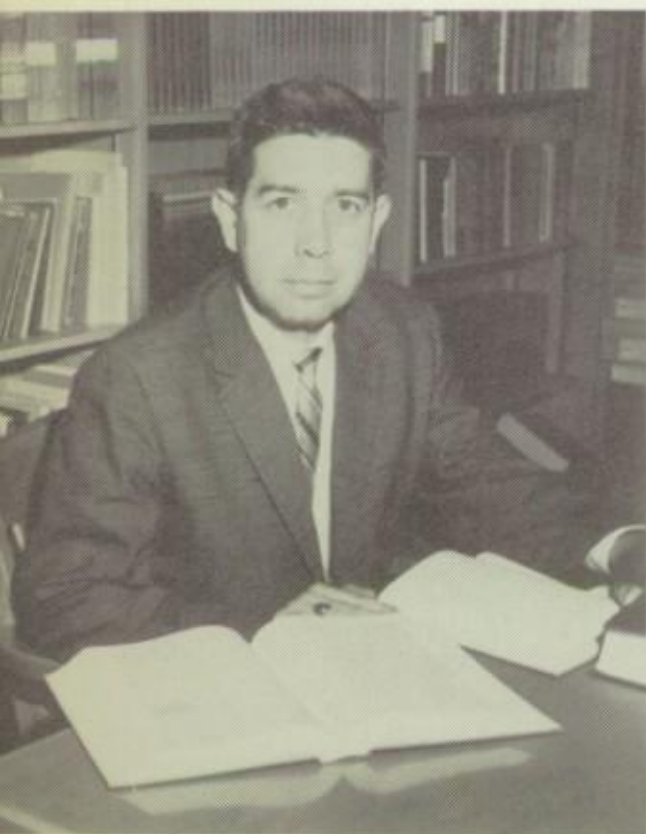

Mr. Arlan Moyer, assistant to Mr. Rehner for the junior high school, splices film. Several thousand films are shown by the subject departments via our Visual Aids director.

As assistant to the principal for senior high school, Mr. Aaron Miller checks his master schedule to see whether there is a room available for a forthcoming Student Council meeting.

Administration's Aides-de-Camp Plan and Execute

Dr. Carl Constein, curriculum coordinator, peruses these recently published texts and dictionaries.

Glancing up from her work at the reading accelerator is Mrs. Esther Miller, Wilson's reading consultant.

With pencil in hand, Mr. Carl Derr, school psychologist, looks over a recently taken achievement test.

Receive Advice and Profit by It

The guidance department is concerned with the welfare of each student. In junior high school aptitude and IQ tests are given to each student, and school and personal problems are discussed. For the senior student, tours of industries, hospitals, and colleges are arranged to help him select his occupation.

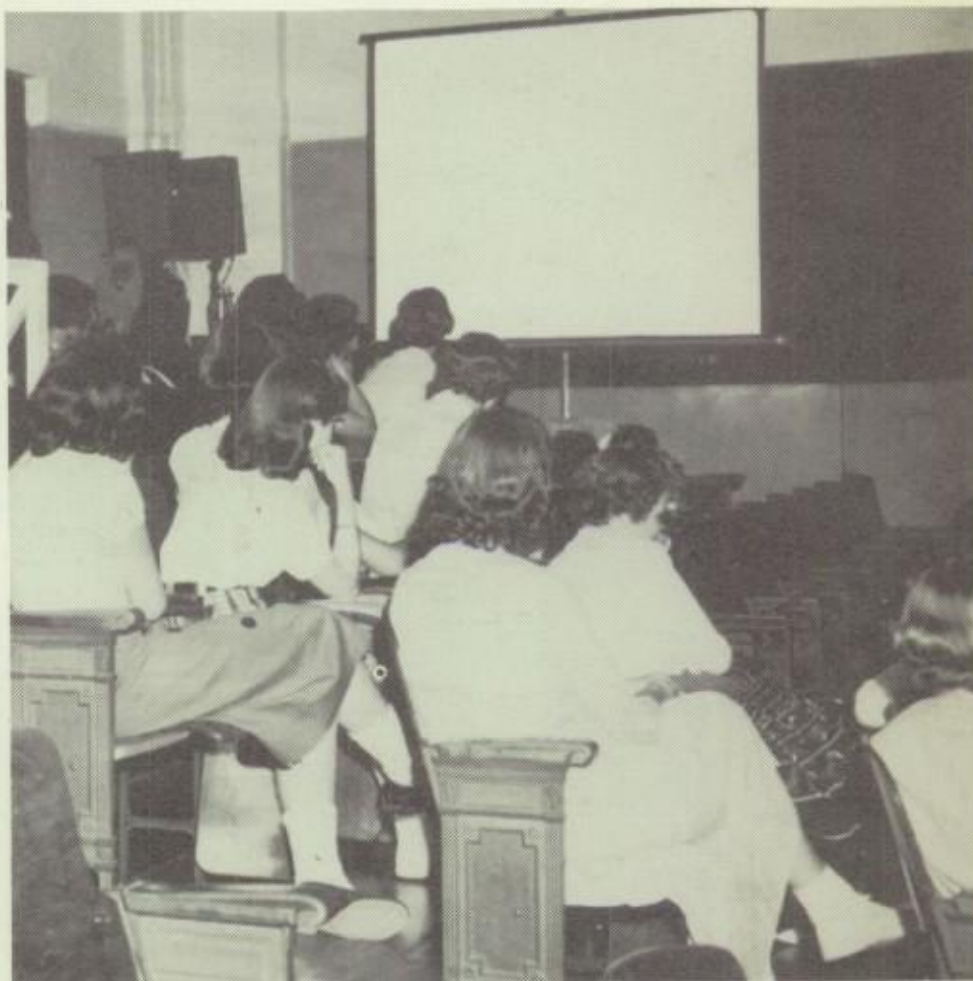

Miss Verna Seitzinger gives Karen Koch a helping hand to prepare her for entrance into the Reading Hospital School of Nursing following graduation in May.

Instructing his 9G, GV boys' guidance class, Mr. Paul Huffert explains the significance of subject failure.

In conjunction with their unit on industrial occupations, these 9G girls under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Huffert are prepared to see a film featuring opportunities in the industrial world of today.

"Four heads are better than one," say Mrs. M. Huffert, Miss V. Seitzinger, Mr. P. Huffert, and Mr. C. Derr, guidance counselors.

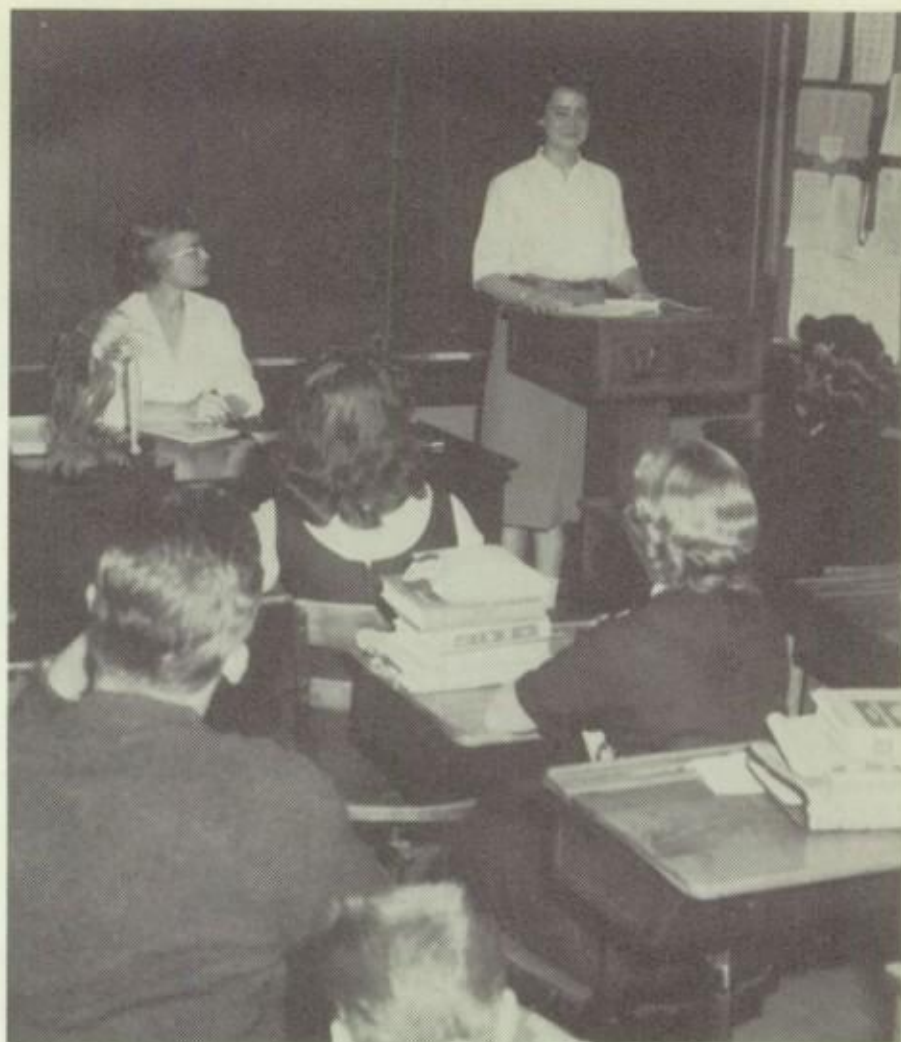

Language Is the Expression Of Written or Spoken Ideas

Our English department provides a sound foundation in word usage, sentence structure, poise in public speaking and proper articulation. The English students are also able to gain knowledge of well-known poets and prose writers in their study of literature.

This school year marked the formal beginning of public speaking classes. Not compulsory, students who wish to improve their public speaking ability and self-expression are urged to elect this two period course.

Deeply engrossed, Mr. Allen Clay scratches his ear as he listens to Karen Kauffman read from her book.

"Mrs. Herb and classmates," begins Mitti's public speech.

Working on their English term papers are senior students, Jean Kalbach, Linda Bohn, James Ebert, and William Mengel.

Dr. C. Constein, department head, is leading the discussion during a meeting with Miss C. Sheidy, Mrs. E. Miller, Mrs. J. Rollman, Mrs. A. Herb, Miss V. Zug, Mrs. B. Hoffman, Mrs. H. Riffle, Mrs. M. Huffert, Mrs. M. Ice and Mr. A. Clay.

Understanding Others by Way of Their Languages

After the launching of the first satellite the need for us to communicate with other nations became imperative. Day by day countries of the world are drawn closer together by the increased employment of jet airliners. As we come in contact with peoples abroad, we must have an understanding of their languages and customs. This year ninth graders were able to choose either Spanish or Latin while the Juniors were offered French or German.

"Would you please decline nullus, a, um?" requests Miss Verna Seitzinger of this 10-C-1 Latin section.

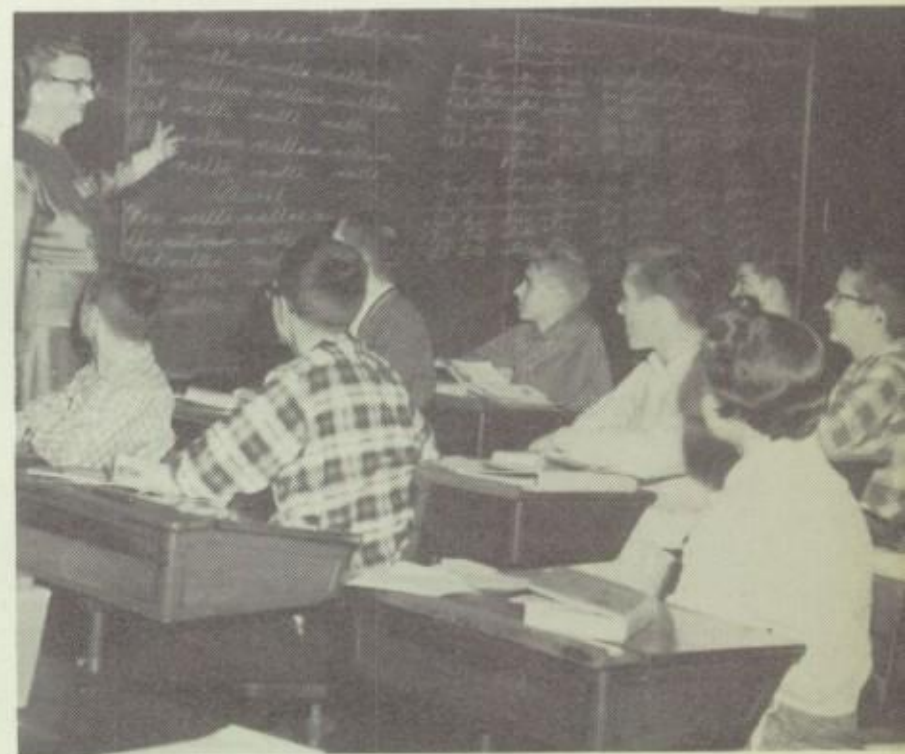

"Pronto, Gringie, break it!" urge other senior Spaniards.

Miss Zug sings "Cantique Noel" to her French students.

Mrs. Rollman locates Spain for other foreign language teachers Miss Seitzinger, Mrs. Schultz, Miss Zug, and Mrs. Herb.

Admiring the traditional Deutsch Weihnachtskrippe figurines are Dennie Deitrich und Tina Mast.

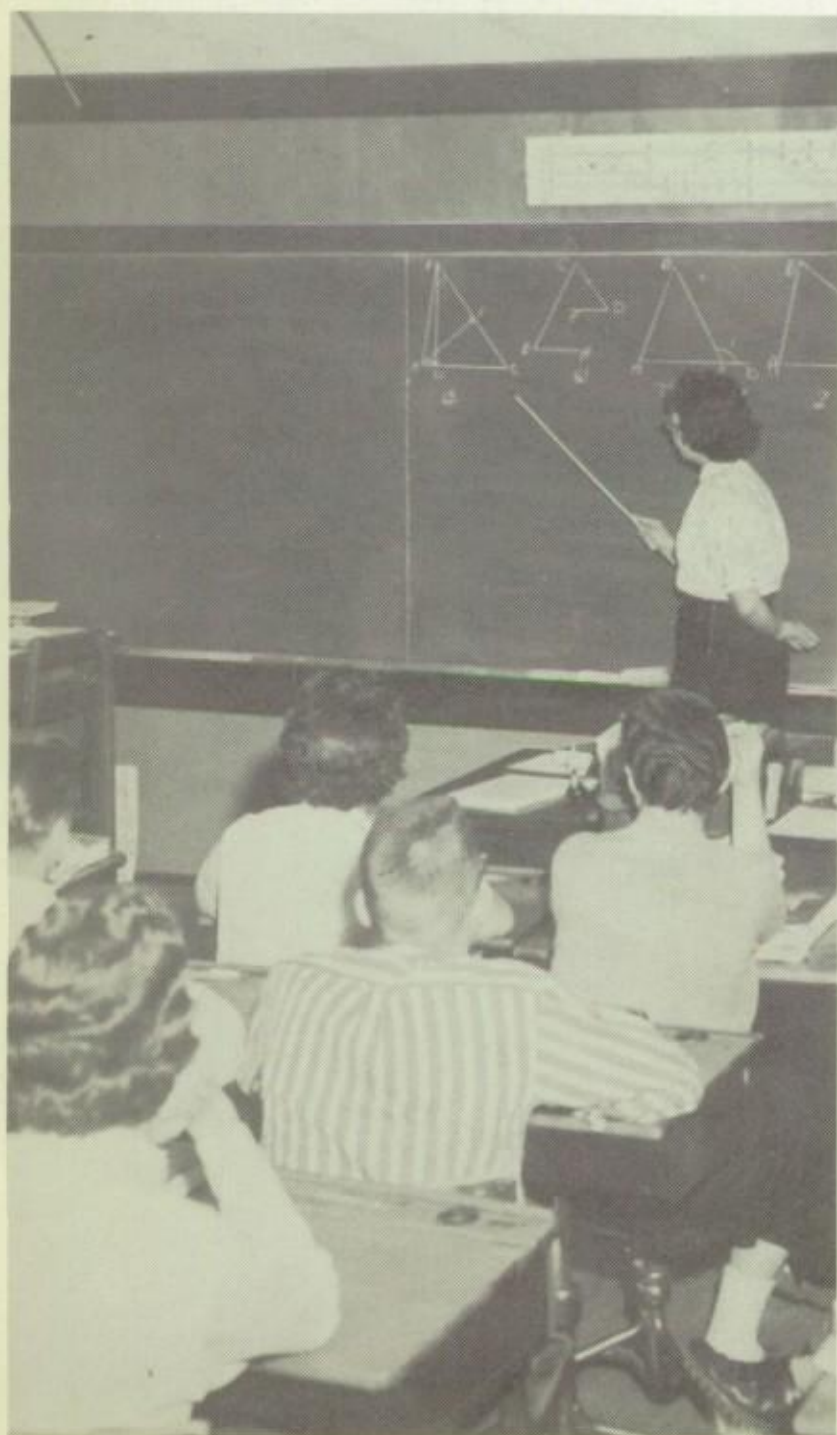

Mr. Evans, Mr. Shaak, department head, Mrs. Jones meet.

10-B-2 business math comprehends Mr. Strunk's explanation.

Mathematics Is Emphasized in the Age of Advancement

"I am given the triangle ABC with . . . and I am to prove . . ." begins Barbara Speicher, as she attempts to solve a problem during an eleventh grade plane geometry class.

"Awright, won't somebody help us out with this graph here?"

Mr. Friend shows 12-V how to solve interest rate problems.

Books Must Follow Sciences

In this age of nuclear and atomic energy, great emphasis has been placed on our study of science. It is obvious that a good basic training in the sciences is necessary for each student. Biology, chemistry, physics, and physical science are well organized courses which each student may take to learn the fundamentals of science. He is also given a chance to perform various lab experiments under the supervision of his teacher.

"This physics problem should work out!"

"In what does sound travel best?" queries Mr. Baer of his 9-C-3 general science class.

The 10-C-3 biology class is in full swing as Mr. Carl Arner lectures.

Mrs. Anna Long, Mr. Carl Arner, Mr. Clair Klingler, and Mr. Paul Arner, department head, are discussing a new topic in the field of science.

Social Studies Purpose: Better World Knowledge

Students at Wilson are well informed on world problems by means of newspaper reports, radio programs, films, and educational class trips. Beginning in eighth grade students are taught how to use the voting machine. Activities include trips to historical land-marks in Berks County, to Harrisburg to note the state government in action, and to Washington in the senior year to determine how the national government functions. The seniors visit the Berks County Court House while court is in session, Berks Heim, and the Berks County Jail.

Mr. Lloyd Miller, department head, explains the Family Characteristics Chart to Mr. A. Moyer, Mr. G. Griesemer, Mr. Aaron Miller, Mr. J. Wise, Mr. P. Huffert, Mr. A. Kauvaras.

"Here's the answer to your question," points out Mr. Arlan Moyer to one of his 8-W history students.

Republican Tom Ziemba, a paper boy, speaks for the labor force during a mock political rally in P.A.D. class.

Mr. John Wise reviews for these tenth graders what they are expected to include in their history notes.

"Let's see how this copy turns out," says Sara Jane Kreisher to onlooking student secretaries — Florence Weissner, Fern Marks and Dolores Tobias, as she works at the Ditto machine.

Mr. William Bard explains a problem of business law to Darlene Goshert and Larry Rothermel, as Carol Geiger listens.

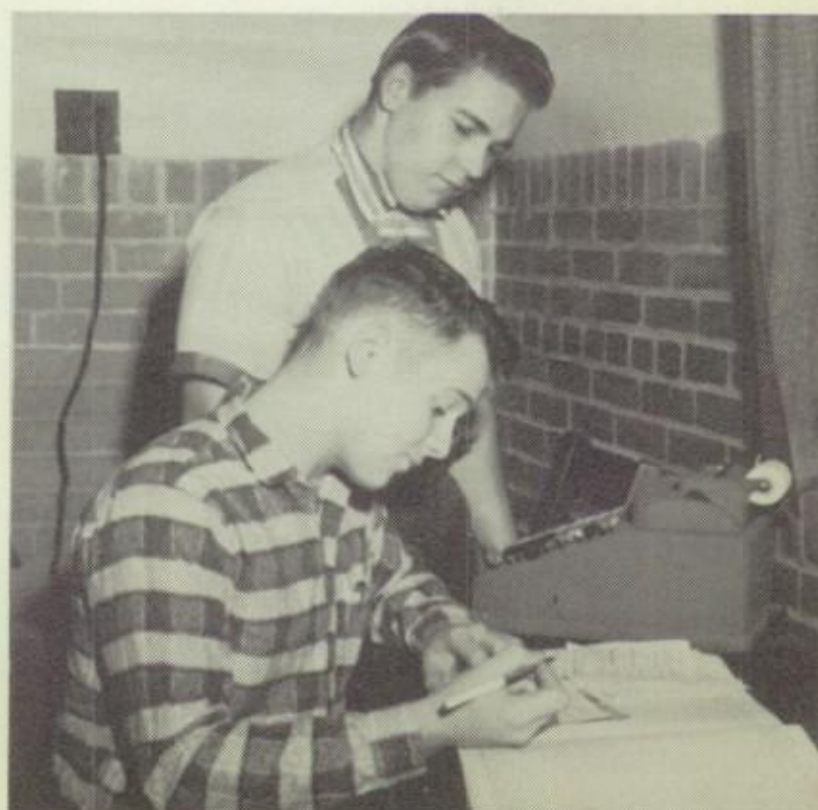

"This line is at the top," explains Mr. Paul Strunk as he demonstrates the mimeograph machine to Mr. Bard, Mr. Ralph Naulty, Miss Helen Rhodes, department head.

The Principles of Business

Students in the business education course receive excellent training in bookkeeping, typing, shorthand, office practice and the principles of selling, courses designed to help them gain prestige in the business world.

With confused looks on their faces, Bruce Huie and Richard Ludwig will admit without hesitation that a number of problems usually arise in Central Treasury.

Craft Is a Link Which Weds Scientific Methods to Art

Mr. Schwenk provides the solutions to many problems which arise in his mechanical drawing classes.

While Mr. Schwenk sands down the cedar chest, James Lord, Merle Meckley, and Randy Schonour occupy themselves with the construction of some additional parts.

Inspectors, Mr. W. Brumbach and Mr. D. Schwenk, detect no defects in the finish of this modernistic table.

Boys acquire manual skills with the aid of the industrial arts program which is offered them from grades seven to twelve. The boys learn to utilize their leisure time constructively. They develop skills in using numerous tools and pieces of machinery in the wood shop. As they become more adept at handling the tools, they are able to construct attractive household furnishings such as lamp bases, coffee tables, stools, and cedar chests. The industrial arts student receives a well-rounded background in manual skills and mechanical drawing.

"Just a little more sanding and then I shall be able to varnish it," David Wenger muses as he works on his project.

"How do you like it?" Mr. W. Brumbach asks Mr. W. Guistewite, Mr. D. Schwenk, and Mr. P. Arner.

"All shook up" about the answers, Karen Koch and Norine Weidman scan the questions asked at a driving examination.

Driver Education Training Produces Skilled, Safe Drivers

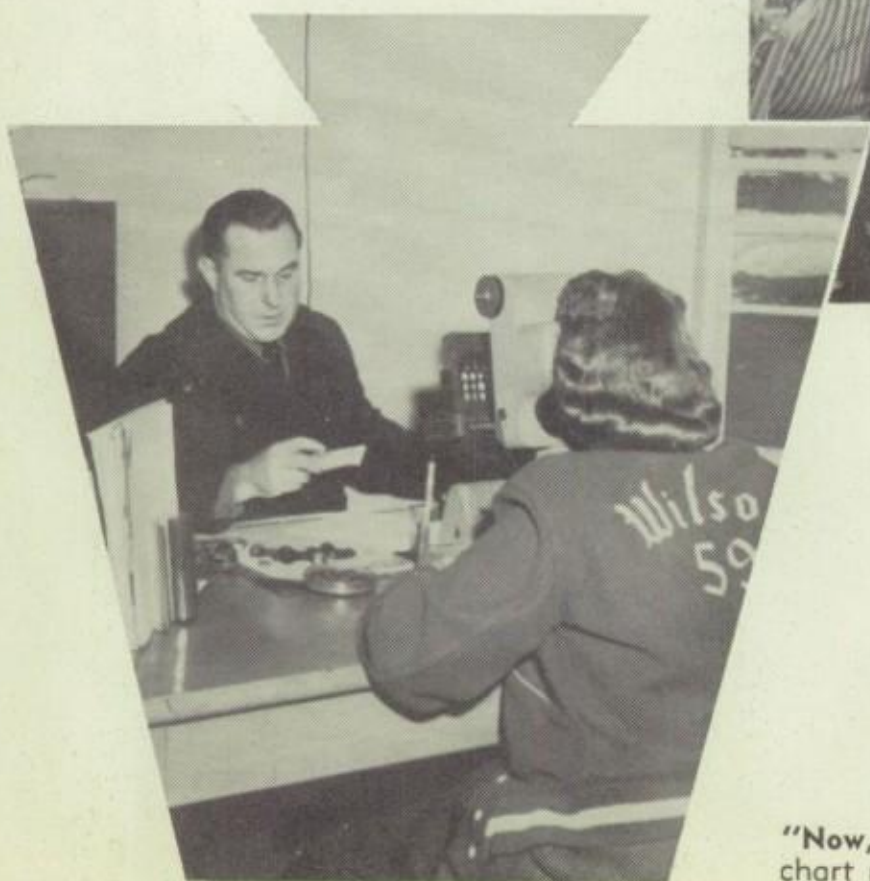

To produce skilled, safe, courteous drivers is the aim of Wilson's driver education department. Each student is required to take the driver education course in his junior year. In these classes, the pupils discuss good vehicular conduct, proper driving habits and procedures, and problems pertinent to modern transportation.

In addition, they have the privilege of participating in the behind-the-wheel training program. When the student acquires enough skill, he is taken for his driver's test.

Good Driving Habits Inculcated in Class and Auto

This group of eleventh grade girls in driver education class listens to Mr. William Brumbach as he tells them about various parts of the automobile and their function.

"Now, please tell me what the signs at the bottom of the chart mean!" the Corporal requests Karen, as he checks to see whether her learner's permit is in proper order.

Homekeeping Hearts Are Always Happiest

Delicious! Mrs. E. Schenck and Miss A. Bast sample some cookies baked by their students.

Gracious living, wise management, and relationships are the common threads woven into home and family living taught by the homemaking department. Home and family living is divided into six areas: Child Care and Guidance, Family Clothing, Family Health and Safe Living, Food for the Family, Housing for the Family, and Personal, Family and Community Relationships. Beginning with seventh grade these areas are developed throughout the junior high years and broadly elaborated upon by those who choose the vocational homemaking course.

Agnes Brightbill and Nancy Essig, recipients of the State Homemakers' Degree, deftly shape Christmas cookies for school board consumption.

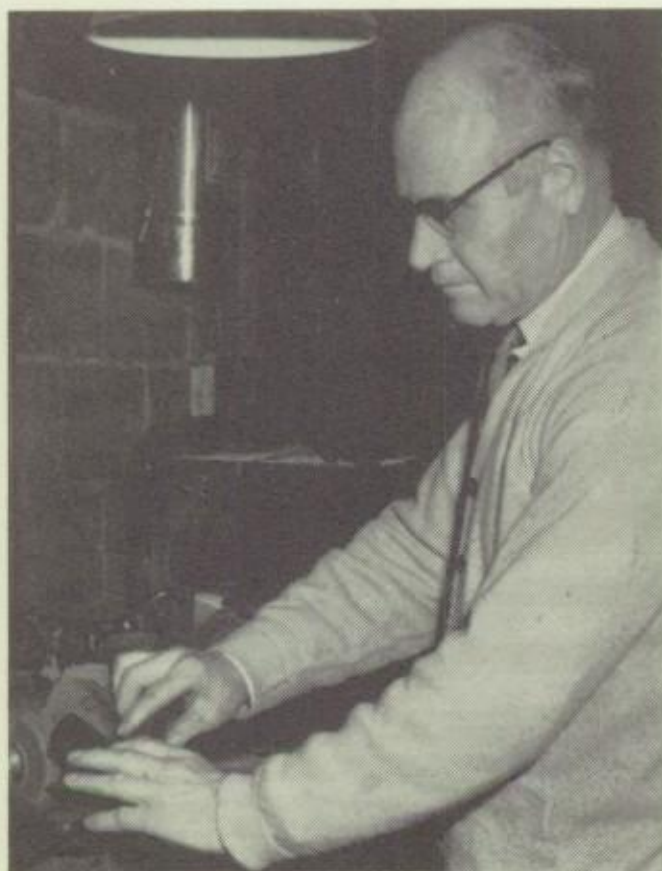

Mary Jane Pierce skillfully stitches on the $\frac{5}{8}$ " seam line. Will this garment become a bubble gown or a sheath dress for the Easter parade?

There are several ways to wield a rolling pin! Barbara Strunk wields this one on dough as Vicki Lombardo and Patti Mattern offer advice.

Farmers Are the True Founders of Human Civilization

To teach boys good agricultural procedures is the aim of the vocational agriculture program. Here the boys are taught about animal husbandry, farm mechanics, and farm forestry in addition to the rudiments of agronomy.

In addition to teaching, Mr. Horace Miller often repairs some of the farm equipment.

D. Miller, behind the wheel, shows D. Etchberger, W. Miller, R. Shurr, A. Beidler and K. Buchel how the rotary mower operates.

"Snip it there," suggests D. Etchberger to L. Moyer, as they, L. Wanner, and L. Folk work on a forestry project.

L. Folk, L. Wanner, A. Beidler, and W. Miller inspect the hens being held by Mr. Miller, D. Miller, and R. Shurr.

Judy Mengel is spray glazing the lamp base she made.

The music and art departments as well as the library encourage students toward fine arts. Here Wilsonites learn to appreciate fine works and are able to express themselves with brush and note.

The library is a store house of master pieces of ages past. Through projects assigned by teachers, students become acquainted with these works and build up an enjoyment for them. Through newspapers and magazines students are also aware of current events.

"This one's nice," comments Miss Kathryn Berger as she and Mrs. Emma Baer look through furniture catalogues.

Art, Music, and Books to Gratify One's Pleasures

Giving some pointers to a pupil on the fine art of oil painting is Mrs. Emma Baer, Sinking Spring art teacher.

During a 9-C-1 music class Mr. Richard Miller shows P. Klinka, R. Maione, and J. Gring how to play a kettle drum.

"New books need new cards," states Miss Catherine Sheidy as she types a card for one of the books.

Student librarians, C. Lehr, P. Spolski, A. Sweigart, D. Seib, B. Marchek, and C. Gring are engrossed in several of the new books.

While Judy Rupp is checking out a library book, Loretta Wolf and Linda Clark are ambitiously placing cards in the books just returned.

As Mr. Richard Miller strikes the tuning bar, Mr. David Weber discloses the french horn is flat.

J. Aten, B. Augustine, L. Trostle, M. A. Dykty, P. Gaul, B. Wert, and C. Bierman check the plans for decorating the bulletin board.

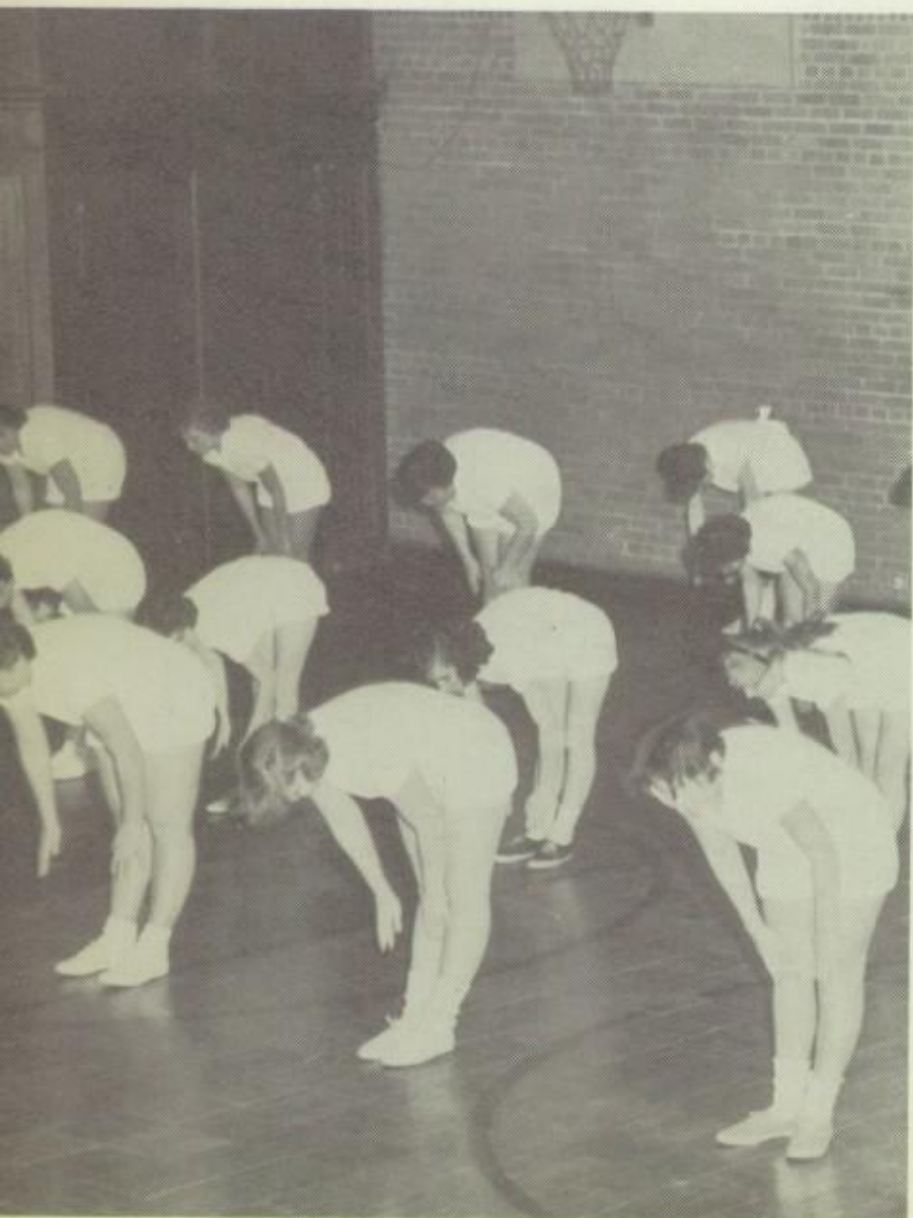

"Heave ho!" cry Mr. Norman Hopp, Miss Susan Leinbach, Mr. Ralph Leininger to pull up the volleyball net.

A Man Is a Builder of a Temple Called His Body

The physical education and health departments work together to build young Americans. While the physical education department concentrates mainly on building strong, co-ordinated bodies, the health classes emphasize personality, grooming, body care, preparation for marriage, child care, and mental health. For a first hand view of mental illness, the senior girls toured the Wernersville State Hospital.

"Knees, toes, knees, back, keep the knees straight!" is the order being executed by the 9-C2-C3 girls.

Giving encouragement to fellow classmates, who are attempting the crab walk during gym class, are the 12th grade boys.

"How exactly is a person's pulse taken?" Just watch E. Eberly, S. Oliver, F. Weissner, and L. Barnes for they can show you.

Preventative Medicine

Thwarts Need for Pills

The purpose of the school's dental and health programs is to achieve a maximum reduction of disease conditions existing by means of chest X-ray, physical and dental examinations. This is accomplished by instituting a program of prevention, education, and correction. Mrs. Knappenberger and Mrs. Rettgers, the nurses, instruct the students on good personal hygiene habits.

Dr. Ralph Tietbohl carefully inspects Donald Bohn's ears, a part of student's yearly physical examinations.

"What do you mean you can't find any?" questions Loretta Wolf of Dr. Alfred Johnson as he looks to find her vaccination.

"I hope I don't have any cavities," muses Joie Mancuso as Dr. Frederick Vastine checks over his teeth.

Mrs. Laura Rettgers, the school nurse assists. Dr. Harry Deibert as he examines Diane Stover's teeth.

Mr. Rawleigh Reinert is our business administrative coordinator.

Typing out students' grade transcripts is one of Mrs. Emes' many secretarial duties. Mrs. Wenrich is in charge of preparing the school's payroll.

Miss Elizabeth Bick, school dietitian, checks through the daily milk bills.

Mrs. Boyer and Mrs. Staggs perform many duties in the school office. Here they are smiling at a late pupil's excuse. Missing are Mrs. Kubacki and Mrs. Hartman.

Efficiency Is the Watchword by Which These People Work

The Sinking Spring cooks, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Mory, Mrs. Kintzer, Mrs. Spies, and Mrs. Ellmaker, are preparing a tasty dessert for the hungry junior high students' lunch.

One of the duties of Mr. N. Bentz and Mr. R. Reedy, janitors at the Sinking Spring School, is emptying waste paper baskets at the end of the day.

Mr. Sensenig, Mr. Batzel, Mr. Hadesty, and Mr. Balthaser, the Wilson janitorial staff, are anxious to be served their dinner in the cafeteria.

After hurrying to satisfy the students' insatiable appetites in the cafeteria and the gym, Mrs. Stettenbauer, Mrs. Machemer, Mrs. Kirlin, Mrs. Koller, and Mrs. Franks catch their breath and enjoy the delicious food they prepared.

Bus drivers Mr. Hoy, Mr. Hepner, Mr. Deininger, Mr. Love, Mr. Sensenig, Mr. Bentz, Mr. Ruoss, Mr. Adams, Mr. Ritter, Mr. Reedy gaze at bus internals.

Maintenance Staff Plays a Vital Role

"What else would you like?" Mrs. Lebo asks a hungry student, as Mrs. Finefrock prepares to dish up soup.

Place: The drawing room of the Red House, an old English manor house, not far from London.
Time: Present year. The season is midsummer.

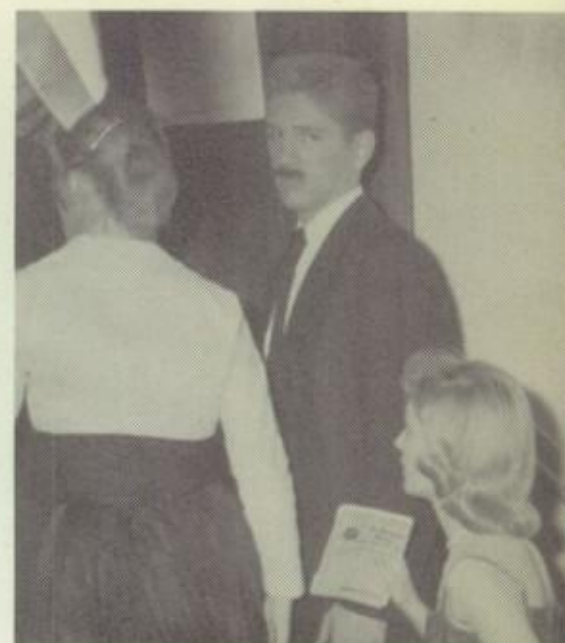

During the time Mark Ablett entertains his guests at the Red Manor House, the traditional manor house ghost, Lady Ann, appears. She tells Mark that he will die the next day, but no one believes it because it was a joke played by Miss Norris. When Mark forbids the engagement of Betty Calladine and Bill Beverley, Bill wishes that Mark were dead. When Antony Gillingham attracts Angela Norbury's attention, Mark and Cayley become very jealous. The arrival of Mark's brother creates an argument and Mark is shot. Suspicion is cast on all guests, but Anthony sets up a scheme to find the murderer. He and Angela are planning a honeymoon on the sofa, when the murderer points his gun through the door and aims for Antony's head. However, Joe Turner, the policeman, shoots the murderer, Cayley, before he has a chance to shoot Antony. Angela and Antony then announce that they are engaged.

"Go away! Don't come near me!" says R. Aleshire to the Manor House ghost.

"Why can't we remember our lines?" ask the nervous actors.

Suspense is shown by G. Eckenroth, L. Barnes, and J. Ebert.

B. Lewis and J. Ebert listen intently as E. Liss talks about the ghost.

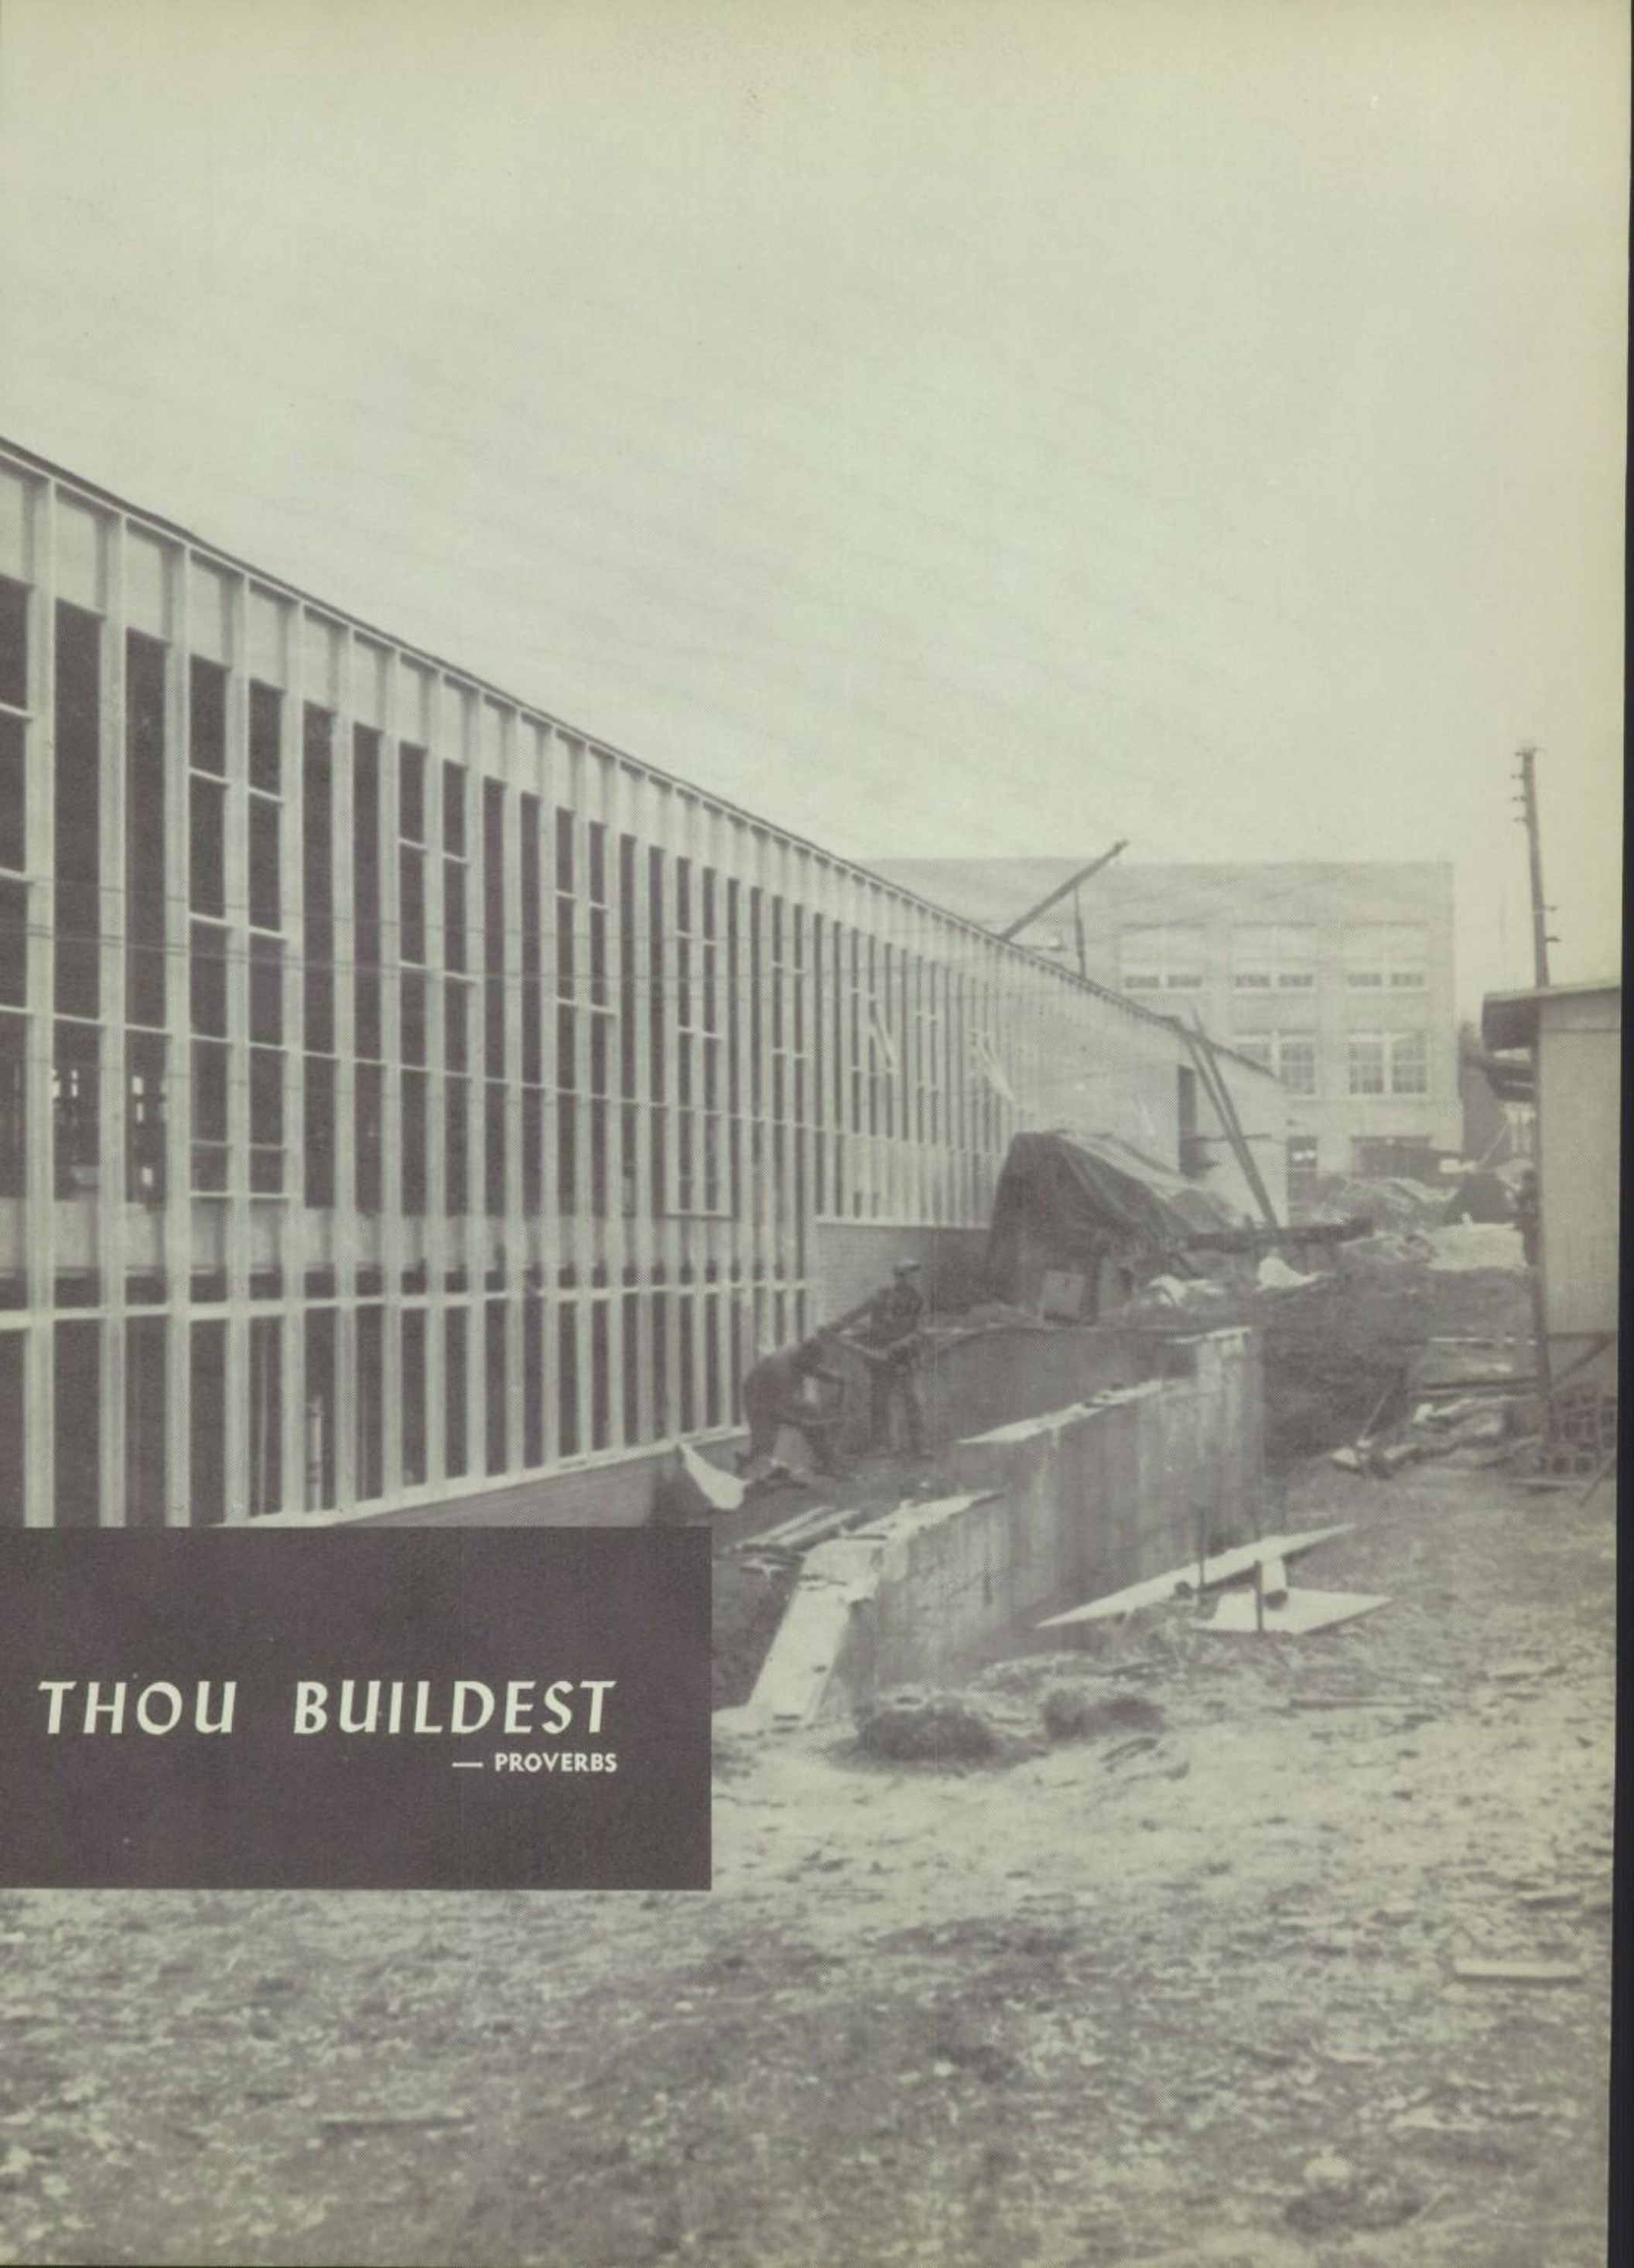

"More coffee, please," demands Gary Eckenroth from Sara Jane Kreisher.

"He needs more color," is the opinion of the make-up committee.

Student Government Builds and Trains Tomorrow's Leaders

Student Council, consisting of two students representing each homeroom and students representing various organizations in the school, is the governmental body for the students of Wilson High School. The group usually meets every other week and discusses problems that are of importance to the student body.

One of their major activities is the sponsoring of the annual school magazine campaign. This drive is the main source of the Council's finances. With the money that is earned from this activity the Student Council purchases articles of lasting use for the school. The group, along with providing a popular movie for the students since they reached their quota in the magazine campaign this year, has voted to purchase five new water fountains to be placed in the new senior high school building.

By giving the representatives a place in the solving of the school's problems, the Student Council system at Wilson High provides an opportunity to develop leadership in students.

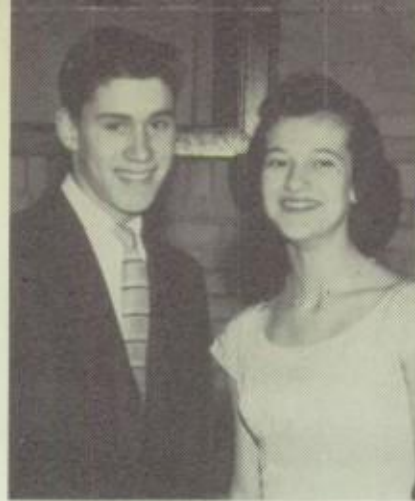

"The next item on the agenda as new business is . . ." William Mengel, president, tells Student Council representatives.

The Spectator Keeps Students Informed of School Activities

Editors and their assistants, reporters, advisors, typists, and businessmen are all part of the life line of the school's newspaper

Carol Kunkleman, editor-in-chief of The Spectator, reads some feature copy before sending it to the printer.

Our school newspaper, The Spectator, is edited by the students and is published eight times a year. The production and distribution of the newspaper lie in the hands of the editorial, typing, and business staffs and their respective advisors. Humorous at times, yet always informative, The Spectator relates news of school, scholastic, athletic, and social activities. Elective journalism students automatically are appointed members of the editorial staff and work in that capacity as reporters. Upon entering the course, each reporter has the opportunity to choose the page on which he or she desires to work — either news, feature, or sports. The Spectator symbolizes a well-informed student body.

Editors aided by their assistants: M. Ludwig, R. Bollman, S. Andruzak, C. Gring, H. Shearer, V. Krueger, B. Shultz, C. Kunkleman, and S. Piper are getting their assignments organized for a forthcoming Spectator publication.

Planning a page for the next issue are Virginia Krueger, Carol Kunkleman, Mrs. M. Huffert and Susan Piper.

"This needs more words," declares Steffi Andruzak, feature editor, as Barry, Richard and Carol offer advice.

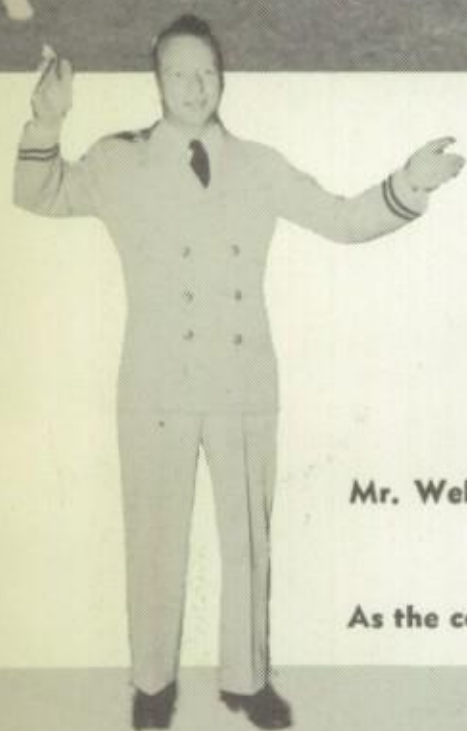

Spectator typists, A. Berkenstock, D. Goshert, L. Barnes, P. Owens, K. Blecher, B. Marchek, D. Seib, head typist, and C. Geiger, enjoy typing the stories for the next issue.

Students have an opportunity

Mr. Weber sings along with the Cadet Band during one of their period four rehearsals. This band is made up of all junior high musicians and senior musicians who play a second instrument.

Besides the concert band, our school is fortunate to have many other musical groups — the Wilsonaires or dance band, the Cadet Band, the Symphonette, and the junior high Blue Band. The organizations, all of which Mr. David Weber directs, participate in many school activities including the Night of Music, the student assemblies, and various other school functions.

From these groups, our student musicians go out to participate in county band and orchestra, district band and orchestra, and all-state band and orchestra festivals. In this way, our school musical organizations are represented and so is the school.

Praise to Our Team's Success

The year 1958 saw numerous changes in football here at Wilson. Mr. David Evans, the head line coach, was doing post graduate work at Penn State, so Wilson needed a replacement. Mr. Edward Evans capably filled this position. Mr. Donald Troutman also aided Coach Shaak in the backfield. The new arrangements apparently brought the Prexies some luck, for when the season ended, the final tally was five wins and three losses.

When asked how he felt about this past season, Coach Shaak replied, "This year's squad deserves a lot of credit for this reason: our season began with an unimpressive victory at Exeter. This labeled us as a team which was building for the future, one which would finish with a losing season." But the Shaakmen showed the newspapermen and other pessimists that they had what it takes to win.

The Prexie eleven surprised everyone except the Wilsonites when they downed highly rated Phoenixville in a freezing downpour and mud. Intercepting the Muhlenberg flying saucer was another noteworthy accomplishment of the varsity squad. Coach Shaak feels that in this game the Prexie eleven hit its peak. "They played one of the best defensive games a Wilson team has ever played." Another striking fact is that no more than a total of three touchdowns was scored in any one game.

J. V. guards Danny Berst and Jim Moyer provide the necessary blocks for David Berger.

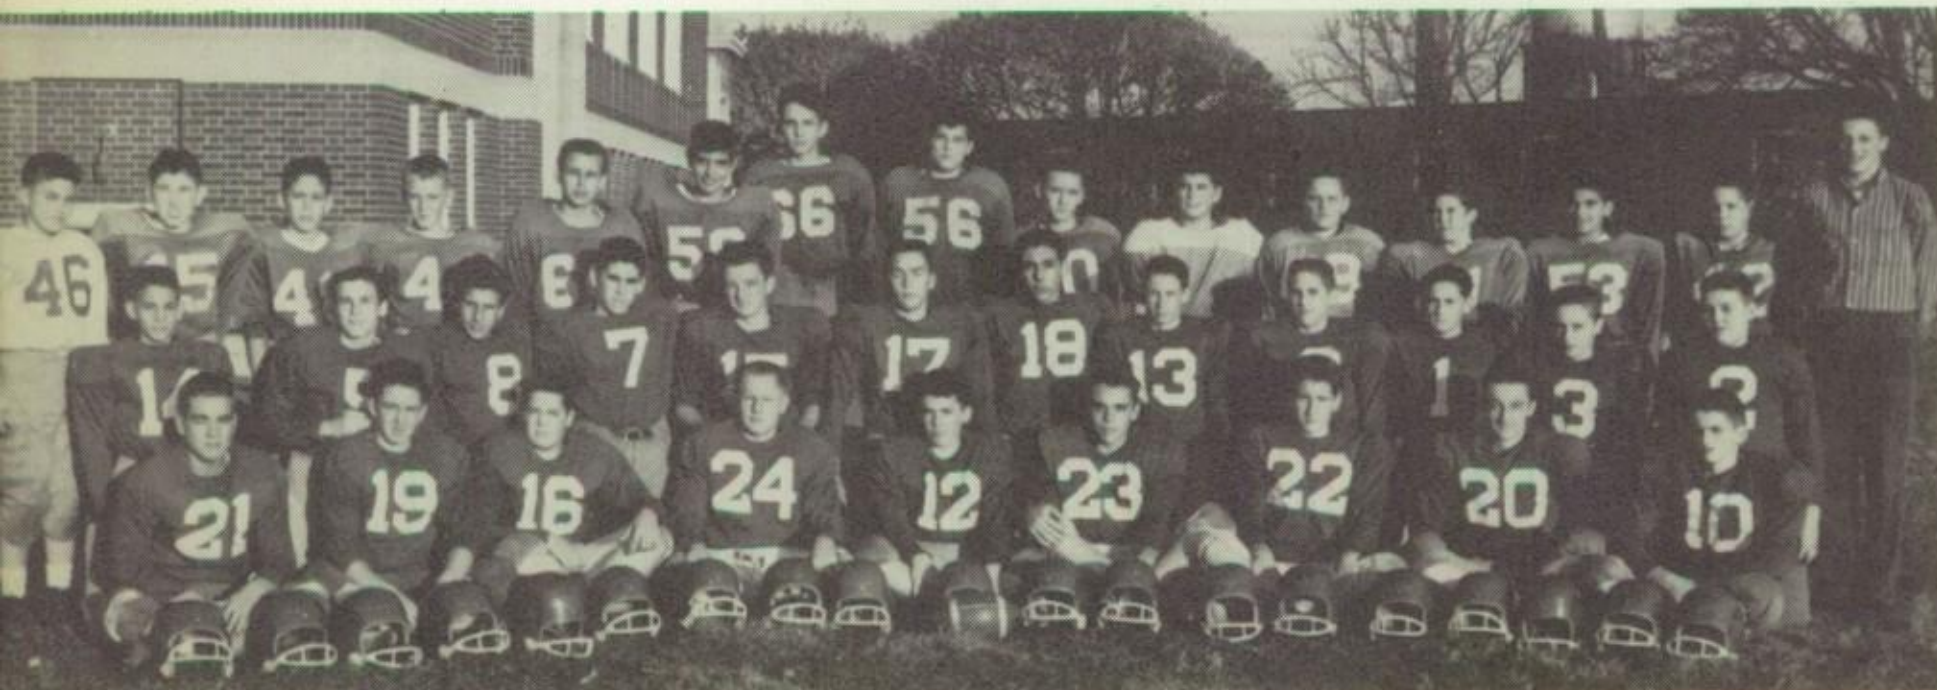

Russ Hechinger and Warren Wolfe seem to be the only Prexies remaining on their feet.

Despite an exciting, close, hard fought game, Muhlenberg overcame our Jayvees 13-6.

With coaches Edward Evans and Donald Troutman directing them, the Jayvees compiled a moderately successful season with two wins and four losses. These junior counterparts of the varsity seem ready, willing and able to fill the shoes of the departing seniors. Some capable Jayvees served double duty, playing both for the varsity and J.V. squads.

Perhaps the most pleasant memory for J.V. gridgers will be the Blue Mountain game. It was here that quarterback Joie Chitwood called two touchdowns within the first five plays from scrimmage. The final score of this 24-6 encounter provided the incentive to down Daniel Boone 21-14.

The ponies had a good season — winning and losing. Coach Aaron Miller's eleven posted early victories which served to surprise all their followers. Their fortitude warded off all opposition and prolonged a game winning streak. Boyertown proved to be their downfall, defeating the ponies 6 to 0.

The small Prexies did much to gain prestige for Wilson and will probably be one of the better teams in the county when they become the varsity.

Exeter memories bring self-satisfied expressions to the faces of the ponies. Here they scored five touchdowns to defeat the opposition, 35 to 7.

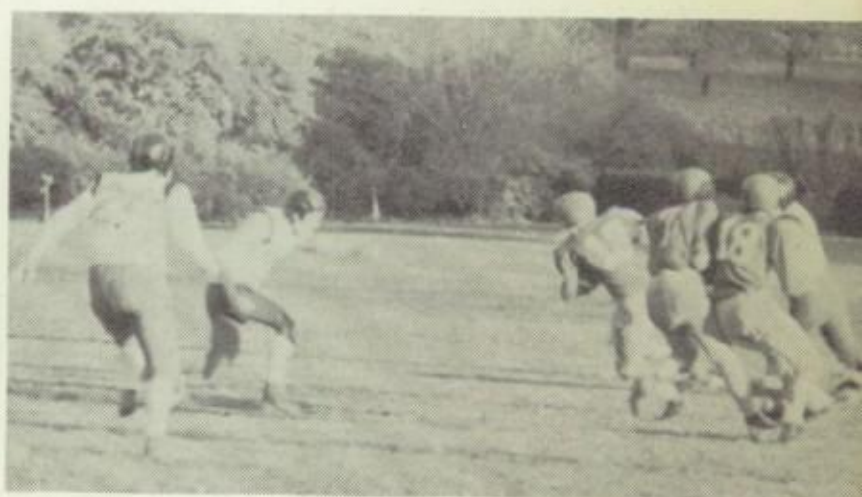

The eighteen members of our seventh grade football squad, T. Hamburger, R. Marcus, G. Fritz, G. Seffler, J. Vlasak, M. Fink, T. Moore, D. Schoenour, D. Bollman, G. Clark, R. Ebert, H. Ream, M. Eisenhart, D. Unger, G. Sensenig, R. Blimline, R. Baerncopf, and B. Richards, huddle together before they start to practice for their last game of the season.

The Pony Team Acquires Experience and Good Sportsmanship

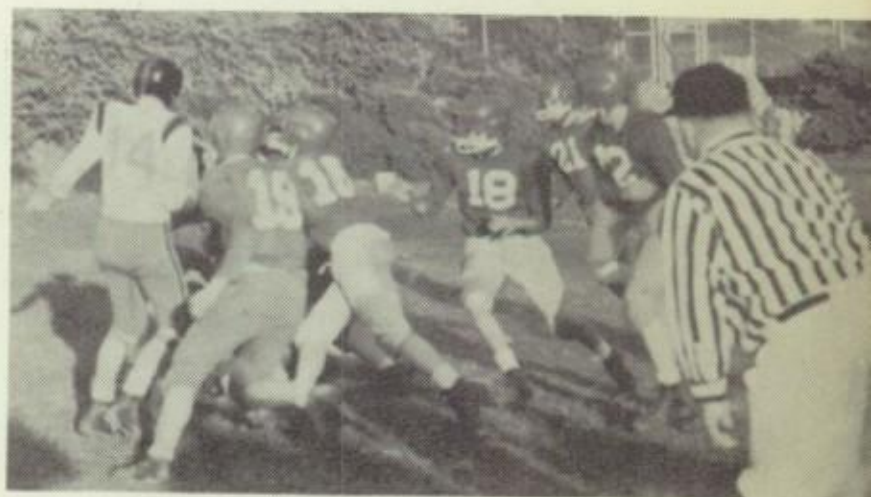

Pony football coaches are Mr. A. Miller and Mr. N. Hopp.

F. Franks carries the ball for a yardage gain.

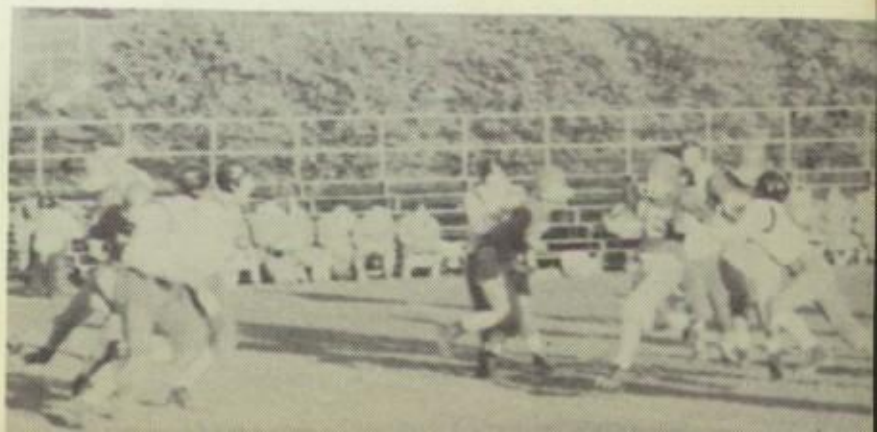

Our defense pushes Exeter back for a loss in yardage.

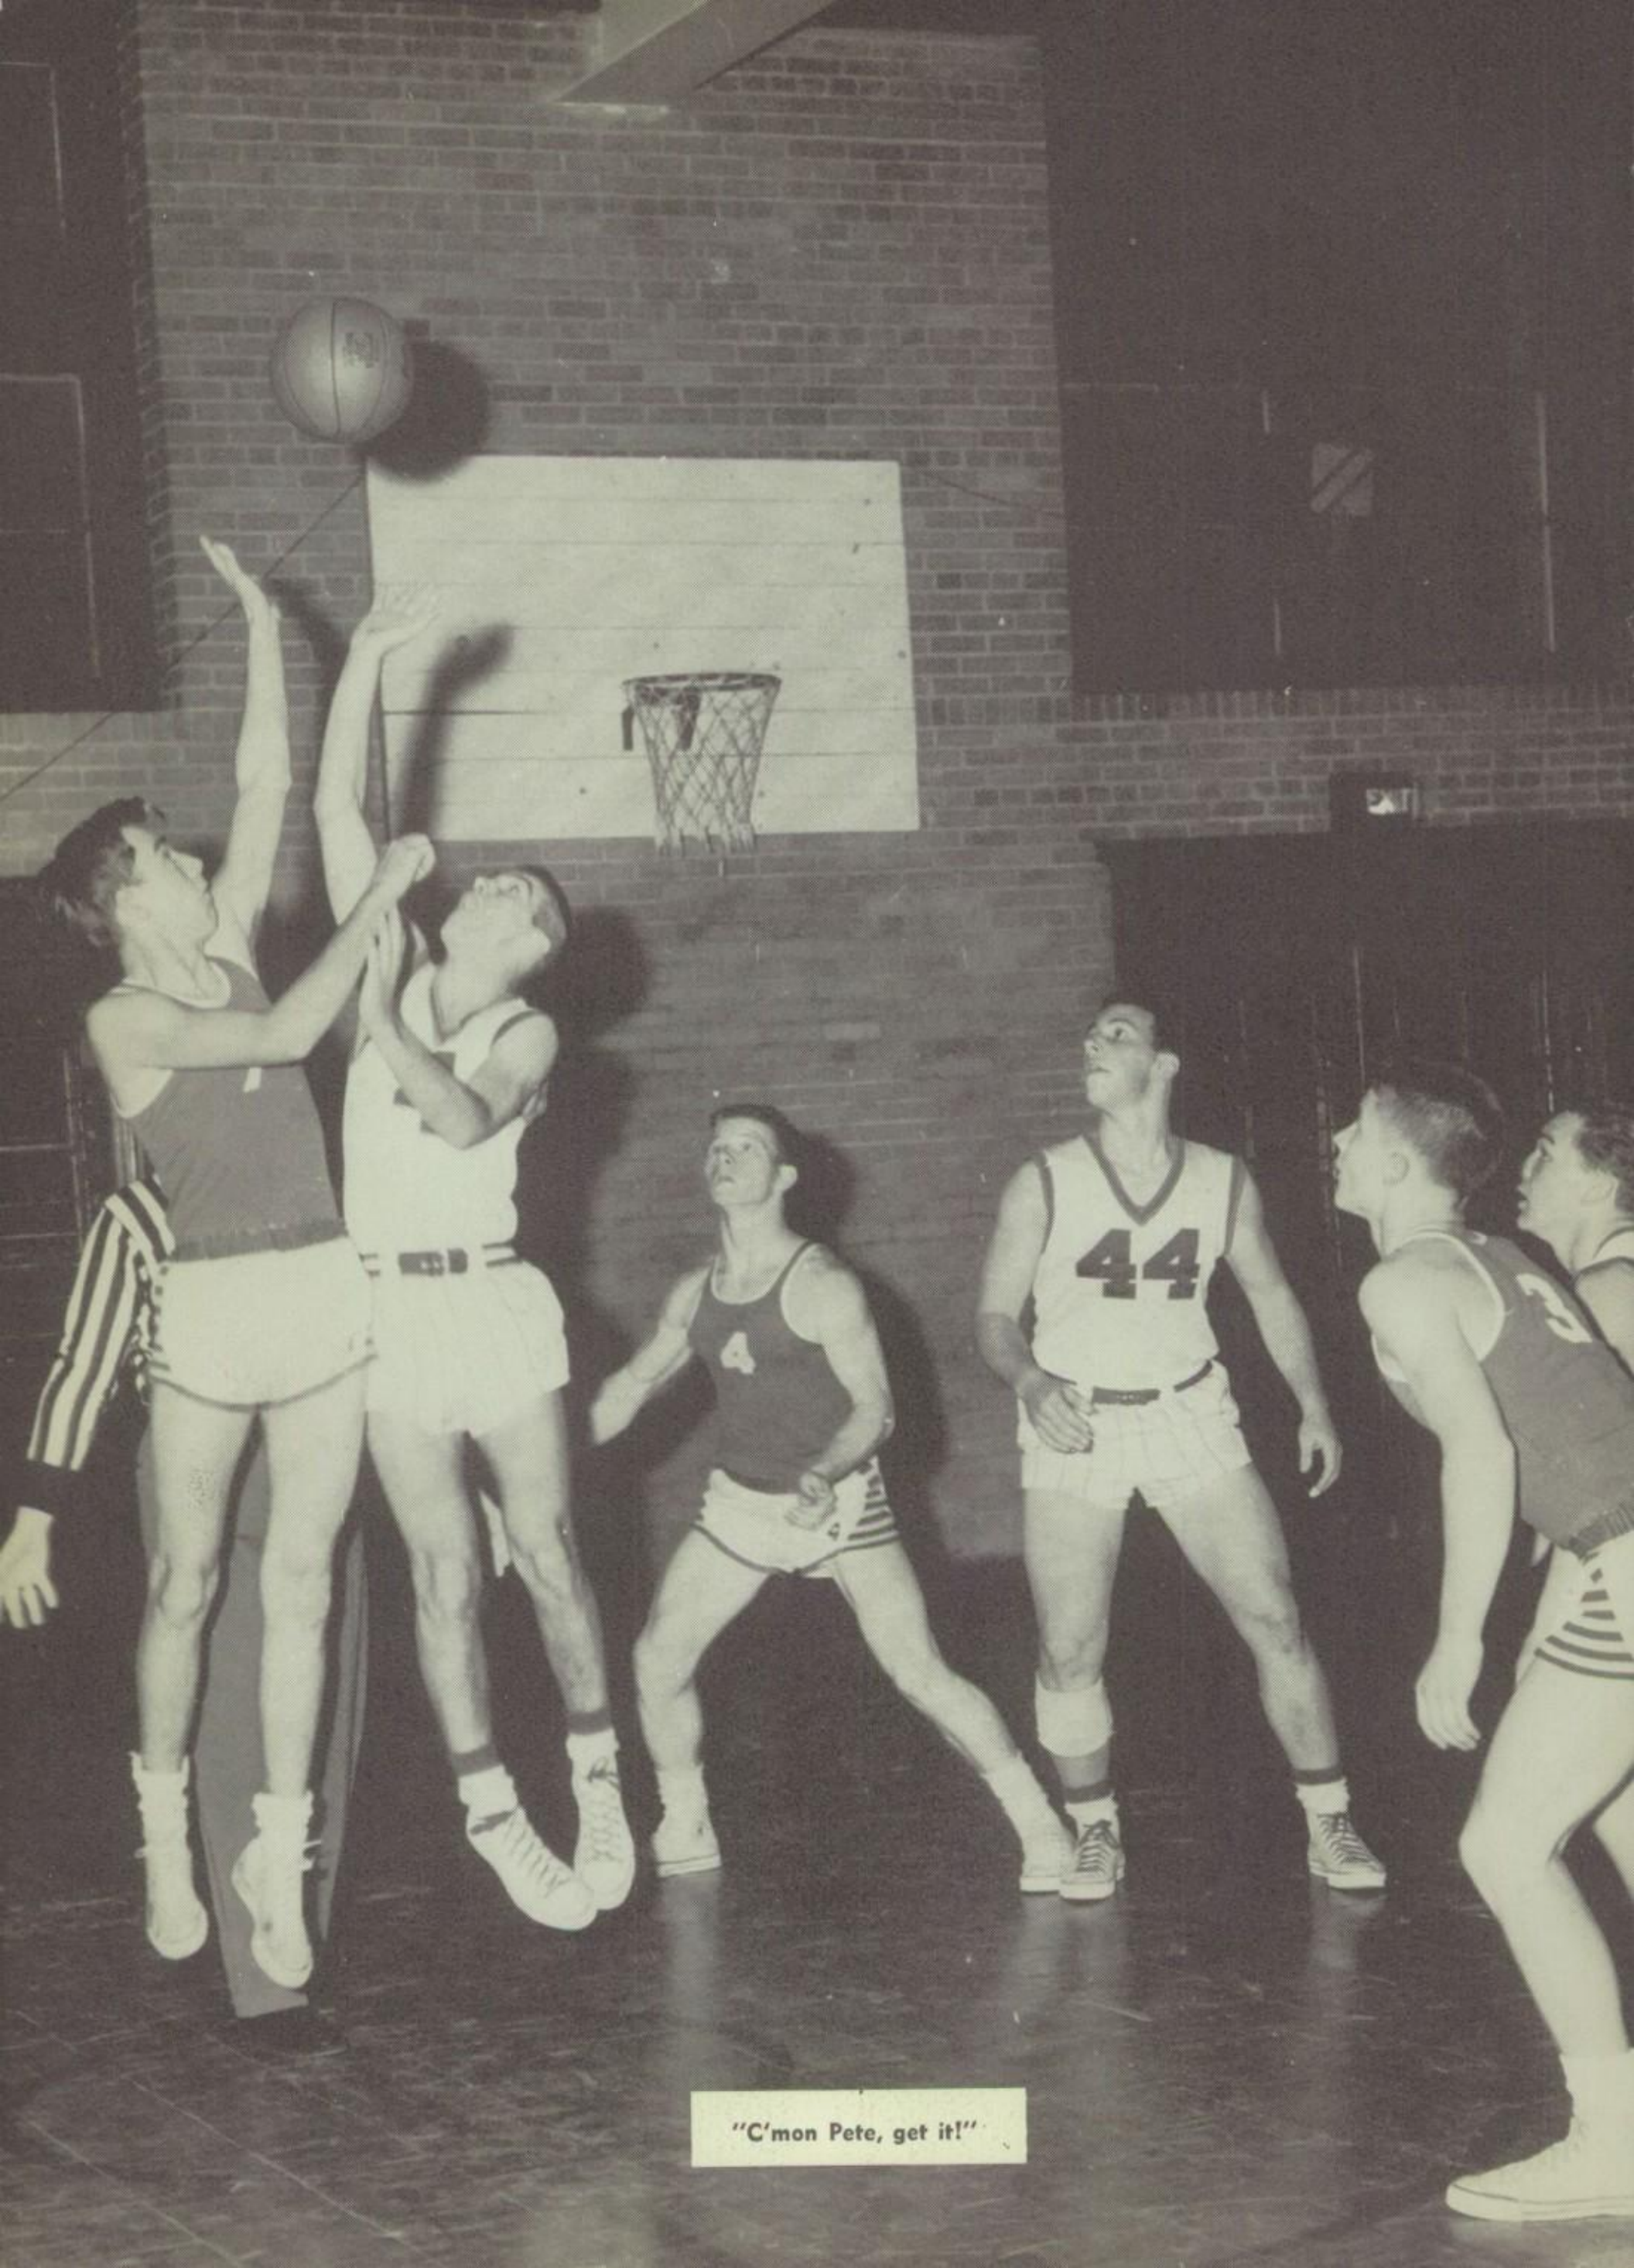

Henry Blandford and Sam Tice tackle opponents.

Gerry Smith is on hand to gain possession of the ball.

Carrying the ball for a first down is Bill Dry.

Even though the 1958-59 basketball season was a building season, seniors Jim Lebo, Gary Eckenroth, and Pete Horrigan performed splendidly in bolstering the team. Pete Horrigan was chosen for the All Star Team.

Although the Jayvees only won two games this year, nevertheless, their spirit remained high during the entire season. The experience they gained by playing on the Jayvee squad this year will prove to be a valuable asset to them in their future years of playing basketball on the varsity team. This year was also considered as a building year for future teams.

First row: Clemente, Romich, Mancuso, Chitwood, Crawford, McAllees. Second row: Eckenroth, Noecker, Arosell, Hechinger, Campbell, Hartung, Bowman.

Russ Hechinger and Doug Arosell await the rebound as referee Mr. William Baer indicates a foul was committed.

Kenny Romich watches as his team mate Russ Hechinger and his opponent seem to be holding the ball in mid-air.

H. Spear outjumps his opponent and taps the ball to one of his team mates as B. Mogel gets ready for action.

With outstretched arms, D. Spear attempts to obtain the rebound as his team mate B. Mogel waits for the pass.

The crown of the Berks County Championship is worn with dignity and honor by our Pony Squad. They displayed an enormous effort and great ability by overthrowing Governor Mifflin by a score of 39-37 for the County Championship. They played the entire season with a triumphant record of 23-0.

Our Baseball Players Boost and Boast Wilson's Prestige.

"Never a dull moment!" This is an apt cliché to describe the Wilson High baseball team. Perhaps not all of the Prexies were home run kings, but most of them became consecutive hitters, chalking up good batting averages. This is a credit to the coaching of Mr. Ralph Leininger and to the substituting of Mr. John Wise for Mr. David Evans. Both coaches and team were hindered by early spring weather, including snow, and construction work which dug up the field behind the school. However, the field was sometimes used as an early season practice area.

Seniors J. Lebo, P. Horrigan, P. Bentz, and D. Hess bolstered the team.

Scrimmages with Reading High will be remembered by departing seniors as well as others who played in these games as moments when the squad displayed its skill.

It looks like another close one for Donald Sweimler as he races to first base in an attempt to score another hit for his team.

First row: D. Hess, R. Leininger, R. Palko, A. Straka, F. Bitzer, P. Horrigan. Second row: Mr. Leininger, C. Reedy, D. Sweimler, C. Aten, D. Peters. Third row: B. Baerncopf, J. Ebert, P. Bentz, J. Lebo, D. Hepner, and G. Allushuski.

After one of Jim Lebo's solid connections, the team is sure that there will be another addition to the Prexies' score.

Coaches John Wise and Ralph Leininger check an order of uniforms that was recently purchased for the baseball team.

"Swish" goes the bat as Greg Allushuski lines the ball into center field, bringing home two runners to break the tie.

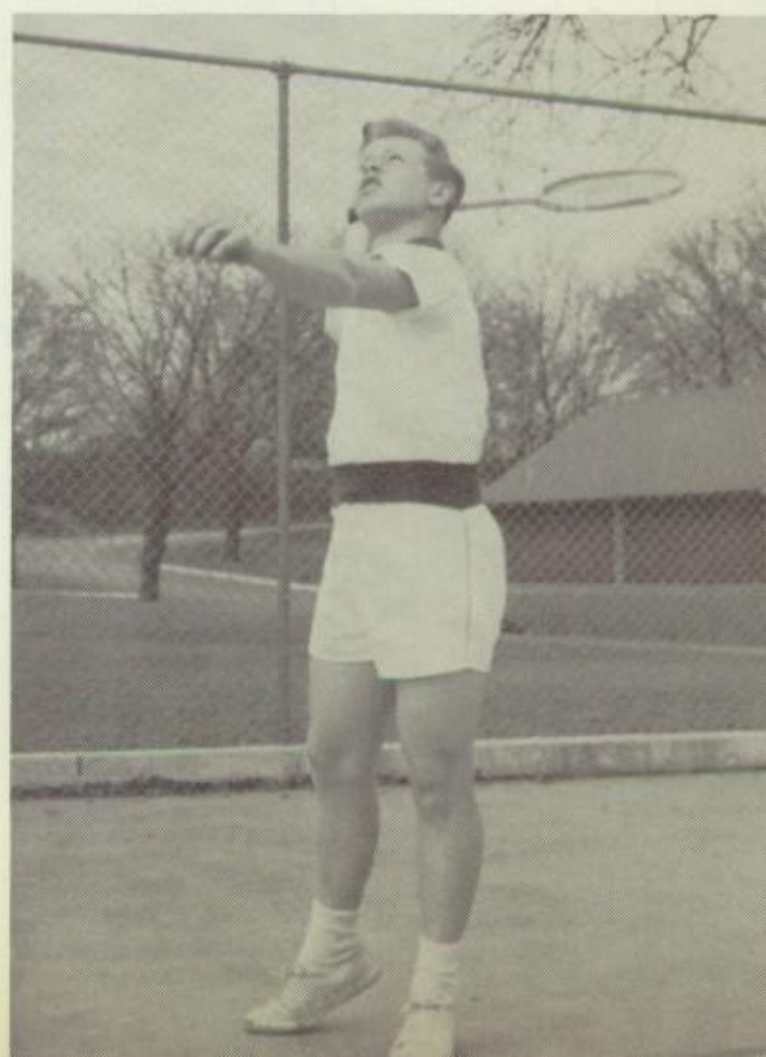

John Noecker prepares for a back hand stroke, but his ambitious opponent Willie Wilson won't wait to smash a return.

Seen through the net with the score love-15 is Karl Greenwich in the customary stance preparatory to returning the ball.

Showing coolness, control, dexterity, and alertness is David Rentschler as he serves to his opponent.

Doug Arosell displays his skillful back hand.

Perfection—Netmen's Aim

The 1959 tennis team is composed of six players who saw action last year and four new members. The only loss from last year's team was Van Bennett, so Coach Norman Hopp can count on the skill of the veteran team members to provide a successful season. Wyomissing is the big block. A victory over them could mean a County Championship for the Prexie netmen. To accomplish this, the team can be found almost every evening at the Owls' Field court perfecting their skill.

Wilson thinclads suffered a severe season. Not only were they winless, but they were also "practice fieldless." Necessity forced Wilsonites to improvise a practice field which was without pits for pole vaulting, high and broad jumping, and rings for shot and discus.

Coaches Mahon and Evans kept the team under careful surveillance and chose men with high potential to carry Wilson's colors. These few will be the backbone of next year's team.

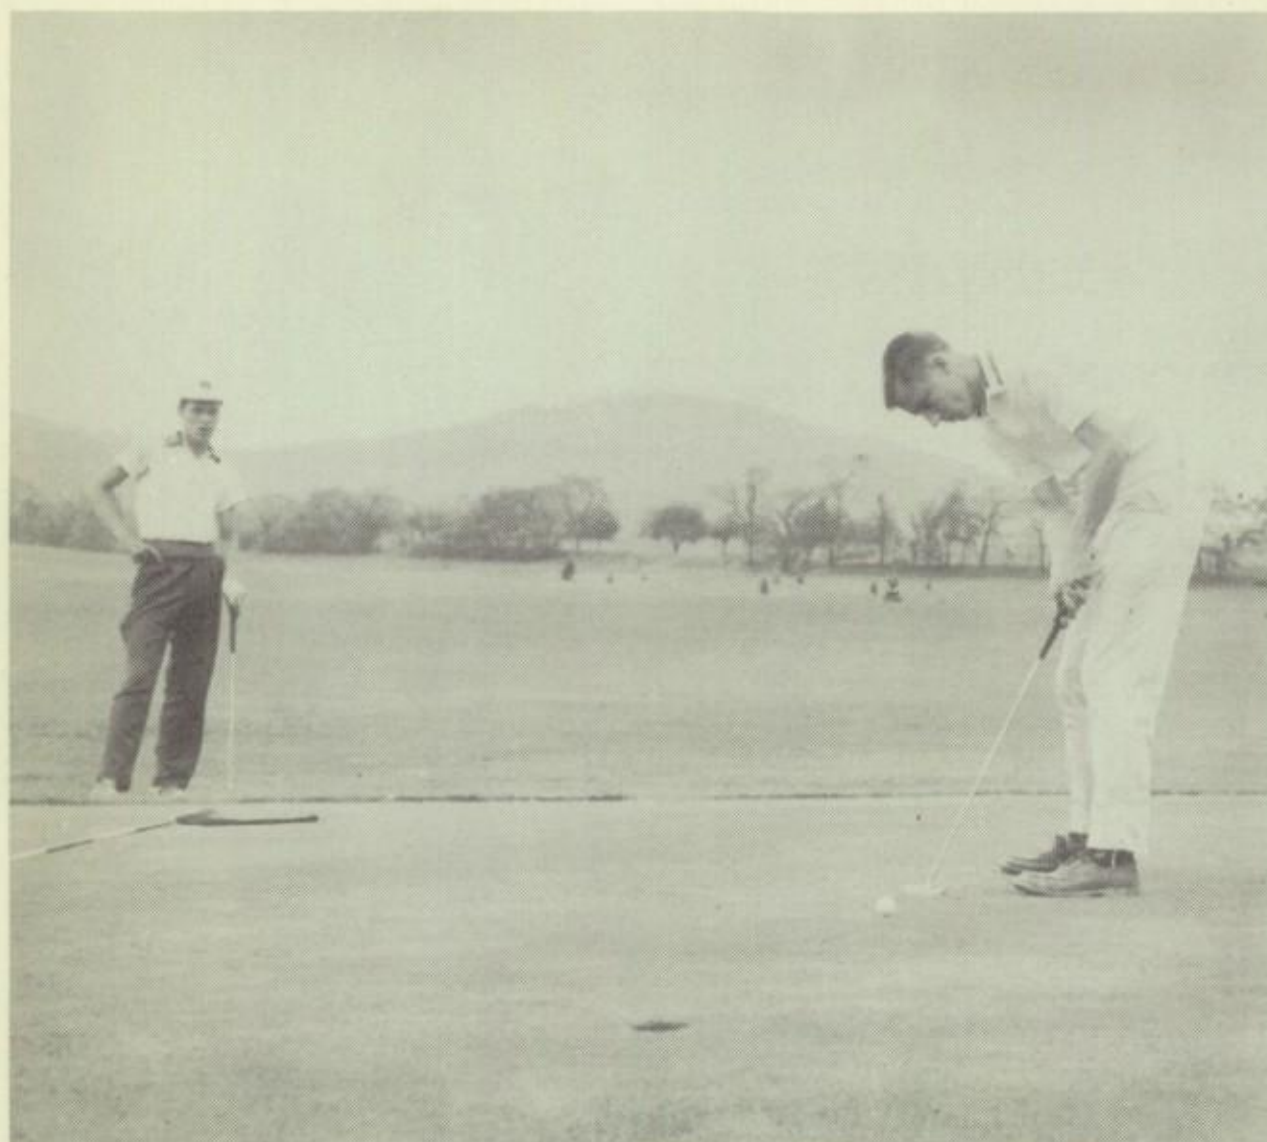

Coaches Grant Mahon and Edward Evans watch their track men at practice.

For the third consecutive year, last year's team won the championship in the Berks County Tournament. They finished third in the Central Pennsylvania Golf League.

Despite the loss of Donald Deeds and Glen Garrison, Coach Brumbach hopes to place second in the Pennsylvania Golf League with four returning lettermen, Denny Mulholland, John Chinnici, Bob Hassler, and Bob Kopp.

While Donald Deeds follows through on a chip shot, he hopes that his attempt will put the ball on the green.

Able Golfers Set Busy Pace

Although you may think Bobby Kopp is trying to look like a vicious dog, he is actually lining up a putt during a game.

A seasoned golfer, John Chinicci looks calm as he prepares to make a putt.

Along with their advisor, Mr. Brumbach, Bobby Kopp, Glenn Garrison, John Chinicci and Dennis Mulholland of last year's team watch Donald Deeds making a putt. Last year's team finished in second place in the Central Penn Conference.

One of Wilson's divers, Frank Boulanger, executes a near perfect one and one half, giving the team needed points.

Displaying the butterfly stroke, James Ebert finishes second to Wilson's record-breaking Marty Flickinger.

A constant winner in the 200 yard freestyle and 40 yard backstroke, F. Schaffert demonstrates his adeptness.

Meets exhibit our swimmers' aquatic adeptness

This year the Prexies had one of the most successful seasons they ever experienced. The mermen started off with a loss to highly rated Mifflin, but this was no indication of the team's success. They completed the season with only a tie with Exeter blemishing their record. The high point in this year's season was the defeat of the Mifflin team. This broke their streak of 21 straight victories. After the last meet, the boys were treated to a banquet by the Student Council, in recognition of a fine season.

HOCKEY ALWAYS PRODUCES WELL COORDINATED, QUICK THINKING GIRLS

The 1958 hockey team was described by Coach Leinbach as, "A good team when they played as they should have, but they didn't always play that way." When the team began practice, there were nine returning lettermen — N. Weidman, N. Baer, M. Hess, L. Rankin, C. Hill, M. Ludwig, B. Burkhart, C. Talbott, M. Reimer. The team played in the Central Division for the first time this year and completed the season with a league record of two wins, four losses. High spots in season were victories over league rivals West Reading, Muhlenberg, and non-league rival Conrad Weiser. Since graduation will take only a few key players, Miss Leinbach feels next year should be an outstanding year.

Donna,
 Remember all the good times we've had together. Remember the mirror in some of the rooms. Carol and the friends.
 Stay as well as you all
 are. Watch that Mike
 character.
 Love,
 Linda

Donna,
 You are a real nice girl. I had lots of fun with you. Love Linda & Bobby

Donna,
 So a sweet real who has kid who has
 they are personalities of an angel.
 always as you are sweet keep your
 are. Keep smile terrific keep and top on Love,
 Linda

Donna,
 remember all the fun at 9th grade
 good case of Mike
 be, good keep up
 the good work always,
 yours
 Yvonne
